To Whom It May Concern:

As a mother of three kids, I ask that you require all products containing bisphenol-A in their packaging or bottling or that has any contact with edibles to be disclosed. In order to minimize my children's exposure to what is known to be a health hazard, I have to avoid:

- All canned products, tomato products in particular
- Many products with soft plastic packaging
- Many water bottles if not explicitly listed as BPA-free
- ...and others.

It would make California families' lives healthier and safer if they could rely on packaging disclosures!

Many thanks,
