Annex I: Literature references

The British Southampton Study (2007):

3. EFSA evaluation of the Southampton study on food additives and child behavior:

13. Goodman DW. Artificial food colour exclusion and free fatty acid supplementation may reduce symptom severity in children with ADHD. Evid Based Ment Heal. 2013;16(3):77.

