Announcement of the Developmental and Reproductive Toxicant Identification Committee Meeting Scheduled for October 9, 2025;

Notice of Availability of Hazard Identification Materials for Bisphenol S (BPS)

The California Environmental Protection Agency's Office of Environmental Health Hazard Assessment (OEHHA) will convene a meeting of the Developmental and Reproductive Toxicant Identification Committee (DARTIC). At this meeting the DARTIC will consider the possible listing of bisphenol S (BPS) based on developmental toxicity under the Safe Drinking Water and Toxic Enforcement Act of 1986, codified at Health and Safety Code section 25249.5 et seq. (Proposition 65). BPS is on the Proposition 65 list for reproductive toxicity, based on the female and male reproductive endpoints. OEHHA is also opening a 45-day public comment period on the hazard identification document entitled "Evidence on the Developmental Toxicity of Bisphenol S." The public comment period will end on Monday, September 8, 2025. A copy of the document is available on OEHHA's website at <https://oehha.ca.gov/proposition-65>.

Background

OEHHA is the lead agency for implementation of Proposition 65. The DARTIC advises and assists OEHHA in compiling the list of chemicals known to the state to cause reproductive toxicity within the meaning of the Act, as required by Proposition 65 (Health and Safety Code section 25249.8). The DARTIC serves as the state's qualified experts for determining whether a chemical has been clearly shown through scientifically valid testing according to generally accepted principles to cause reproductive toxicity within the meaning of the Act (Health and Safety Code section 25249.8).

A request for relevant information on the potential reproductive toxicity of this chemical opened on March 4, 2022, and closed on April 18, 2022. One submission was received and is posted on the OEHHA website. OEHHA considered this submission in preparing the hazard identification document.
